

the who the what the yeah

Nervöse Welt

(Konkord052/Hoanzl/Broken Silence)

In a paper world I shall throw flames!

After their successful debut album blackbox in 2009, the Viennese indierockband now puts another log on the fire: Nervöse Welt (nervous world) is the name of their latest opus, offering a code of angriness in ten straightforward songs. There is definitely no room for love or heartache in the lyrics of singer Martin Konvicka - as he exclaims against self-abandonment and neo-liberal zeitgeist.

To keep a long playing record short: with their second piece of work, the who the what the yeah bring forward an energetic, straightforward and sincerely refreshing rock album.

„Angry, danceable, powerfully eloquent!“ [the gap] „Moves along the whole feet-tummy-brain-axis.“ [alles-ist-pop.de]

the who the what the yeah by KONKORD
blackbox, CD, KONKORD 042 (2009)

Tracks: Immer ein Rhythmus - Nervöse Welt - Alles glänzt - Hallo Zielgruppe - Zerberus - Verbotene Zone - Strahlung - Fehler - Jacobi Matrix - Ender